Rate of Students Disciplined for Violent and/or Criminal Offenses is calculated using the following formula:

$$\frac{\text{Unique Number of Offenses Resulting in Discipline for Violent and/or Criminal Behavior} \times 100}{\text{Total Population of Campus or District}}$$

Other includes: Other Felonies (e.g., felony theft), School-Related Gang Violence, Gang-Related Activity (new 07-08), Indecency with a Child, Aggravated Kidnapping, Aggravated Robbery, Manslaughter, Negligent Homicide, Deadly Conduct, and Murder.

AEIS Addendum: AISD School Violence Prevention and Intervention 2007-2008

Texas Education Code 39.053 requires Texas school districts to report a description of violence prevention and intervention policies and procedures as part of the district's formal AEIS Performance Report. The following listing includes relevant AISD policies and procedures as well as training and resources for 2007-2008. In addition, selected findings from the district's Title IV Safe and Drug-Free Schools and Communities grant evaluation report for 2007-2008 has been included, also as required in law.

District Policies and Procedures Concerned with Violence Prevention/Reduction

1. AISD Board Policy on Student Discipline (<http://www.tasb.org/policy/pol/private/227901>)
2. AISD Student Code of Conduct
3. AISD Administrative Discipline Procedures Manual
4. Discipline Database for PEIMS
5. Guidelines for campus IMPACT teams
6. Mandatory Campus Improvement Plan School Safety Objective
7. AISD Campus and District Safety Plans
8. AISD Board Policy on Harassment, Sexual Harassment, and Bullying
9. AISD Student Information Packet

District Training and Resources Used to Prevent/Reduce Violence

1. Campus Training (Groups receiving training are noted)
 - Crimestoppers (AISD Police Dispatchers are trained in answering police and emergency calls).
 - Code of Conduct – students, parents, staff.
 - Campus All Hazard Safety Plans (Tactical Emergency Operations Plan) – ongoing training of campus staff who are identified as emergency liaisons to the district, district provides template emergency planning document, continuing review of AISD planning documents, and safety and security campus site visits.
 - School evacuation, lockdown, and severe weather seek shelter – this occurs on each campus as per their emergency operations plan and 2008 site visit review guidance.
 - Discipline procedures and database – selected staff.
 - Disciplinary alternative education placement – staff.
 - Search and seizure procedures – staff
 - Violence prevention curriculum – staff, students
 - Districtwide bully and sexual harassment curricula: Bully Proofing Your Schools, Quit It, No Place for Hate.
 - Districtwide Policy Training on Bullying, Harassment and Dating Violence – middle school and high school faculty.
 - Additional curricula at selected schools: No Name Calling Day, Kelso/Conflict Resolution, SMART Curriculum, Bully Busters, Flirting or Hurting, Live This, Second Step, and campus developed bully prevention and conflict resolution programs that utilize collected curriculum, materials, and videos.
 - Districtwide Suicide Prevention Training (QPR Question, Persuade, Refer) for all AISD High School staff members.

- Texas Behavior Support Initiative training – special education staff
- Texas Education Agency Regional Support Center, Region XIII –several professional development training sessions in which counselors may choose to participate.
- Positive Behavior Support – staff at selected campuses.

2. Student Programs

- Curriculum instruction (Guidance and Counseling - Live This! Curriculum)
- Health - Making Healthy Choices curriculum (all grades: classroom teachers in elementary school, Science teachers in Middle School, and Health teachers in High School), and the TEA-recommended Drug And Violence Education (DAVE) curriculum.
- Junior Police Academy (at selected middle schools)
- Criminal Justice Academy (Five different courses taught at Lanier HS, two are articulated with ACC)
- Peer mediation, conflict resolution, interpersonal skills training – Two adult training sessions conducted by PAXUnited . These adults were then certified to train student mediators.
- Peer mentoring (e.g., PAL - available at 32 elementary, 11 middle, and 12 high schools)
- Youth leadership, cooperative learning (e.g., Student Council)
- Anti-bullying, anti-harassment (e.g., Expect Respect program - available at 29 schools)
- Disciplinary alternative education program social/behavioral skills
- Community referral services and support (through CIS, IMPACT teams, and SCL referral system)
- Second Step (Selected campuses)
- LifeSkills (Selected middle school campuses)
- INVEST and Positive Families (Selected students removed to the ALC, and their families)
- District-wide Character Education Initiative
- Gang Resistance Education and Training (GREAT) program at selected middle schools beginning in 2007-2008 (Dobie, Martin, and Fullmore)
- Teen dating violence prevention press conference and poster contest sponsored by AISD and The Family Violence Prevention Task Force – annually in October on an AISD High School campus.

3. Support Staff with Direct Responsibility for Violence Prevention/Reduction

- Classroom Teachers (Elementary Schools), Science Teachers (Middle Schools), Health Teachers (High Schools)
- Counselors
- School to Community Liaisons
- Parent Support Specialists
- Behavioral Specialists
- School Resource Officers
- District Safety Team – meets monthly to evaluate and discuss district safety and emergency issues
- Positive Behavior Support Coaches
- IMPACT II teams

4. External Consultation/Collaboration Regarding Violence Prevention/Reduction

- Central Texas School Safety Consortium
- Title IV Advisory Group
- Center for Safe Communities and Schools
- Joint Juvenile Gang Response Unit
- Austin Travis County Family Violence Prevention Task Force
- Austin Travis County Suicide Prevention Task Force

AUSTIN ISD Title IV Safe & Drug-Free Schools & Communities Evaluation Report, 2007-2008 Selected Findings

The 2007-2008 AISD Substance Use and Violence Prevention Needs Assessment focused on describing trends in student substance use and student aggressive behavior and identifying patterns in these indicators. The key findings from these analyses are summarized below.

Student Substance Use:

Drug referrals in 2007-2008 fell sharply among high schools students (from 574 in 2006-2007 to 438 in 2007-2008), while declining minimally at the middle school level (from 196 in 2006-2007 to 190 in 2007-2008). However, for the first time since the 2004-2005 school year, tobacco discipline referrals rose in 2007-2008 at the middle school level.

For the second straight year, the percentage of students with two or more substance use offenses of any type during the same year (i.e., the recidivism rate for substance offenses) declined among high school students in 2007-2008 and, for the first time since 2004-2005 school year, also declined among middle school students. Student self-reported perceptions of the harmfulness of substance use indicated that over 80% of 6th through 12th grade respondents perceived tobacco, alcohol, and marijuana to be at least somewhat dangerous. In addition, the odds of use within the past 30 days were lesser among students who perceived tobacco, alcohol, or marijuana use to be harmful, particularly at the middle school level.

From 2004 to 2008, across all grade levels, the percentage of self-reported alcohol use continued to decline overall. Also in 2008, self-reported marijuana use amongst AISD 8th grade respondents fell, while 10th grade respondents reported a sharp (5 percentage points) increase from 2007, reversing a steady downward trend in self reported usage that first appeared in 2004.

Aggressive Behavior:

Aggressive behavior continues to be a greater disciplinary problem among middle school students than high school students. The percentage of middle school students disciplined for offenses of verbal or physical aggression in 2007-2008 was more than twice that of the percentage of high school students disciplined for the same behaviors (19% and 8%, respectively). Also, the percentage of middle school students disciplined in 2007-2008 for more than one offense was three to four times the percentage of high school students disciplined for more than one offense (9% and 2%, respectively).

Repeat offenders continue to account for a large percentage of the disciplinary events at both middle and high schools. In 2007-2008, 45% of the middle school students with aggressive offenses had more than one offense, accounting for 73% of the total number of aggressive offenses at the middle school level. At the high school level, 31% of the students had more than one offense and were responsible for 54% of the total number of aggressive offenses.

How is AISD Addressing the Prevention of School Violence?

Austin Independent School District (AISD) has received federal funding through the Title IV Safe and Drug Free Schools and Communities (SDFSC) grant since the 1987-1988 school year. The purpose of the SDFSC grant is to supplement state and local educational organizations' drug abuse and violence prevention efforts. During the 2007-2008 school year, AISD received a total Title IV grant of $431,324 that was used to support substance use and violence prevention efforts at each level of the AISD Student Intervention Model (SIM).

The SIM is designed to provide effective interventions for academic, attendance, and behavior concerns with minimal disruption to the educational process. The behavioral component of the SIM draws heavily upon the philosophy of Positive Behavior Support (PBS) and classifies interventions as universal, targeted, and intensive. Universal interventions are school-wide preventive strategies expected to be effective with about 85% of the student body. Targeted strategies are early intervention measures that are designed to meet the needs of students who do not respond to universal strategies (approximately 15% of students). Intensive strategies are required for the 1-5% of students who do not respond to either universal or targeted strategies.

At the universal level, Title IV supported AISD private school activities and supplemented the district's school-wide PBS initiative by funding 50% of an FTE for a PBS support specialist position. The PBS Support Specialists provided ongoing consultation and training to campus staff to help them (a) organize and maintain behavior support teams, (b) organize school-wide student behavior support systems, and (c) improve classroom management.

At the targeted level, Title IV partially supported the Peer Assistance and Leadership (PAL) program and counseling and behavioral support services. At the intensive level, Title IV supported the INVEST (Involve Non-violent Values using Education, Self-control techniques, and Trust) and Positive Families programs, two programs involving parent participation that serve students who are removed to the Alternative Learning Center (ALC). Students who are removed for a first-time drug or alcohol offense have the option of participating in INVEST and students who are removed for a first time aggression-related offense have the option of participating in Positive Families. During the 2007-2008 academic year, 280 students participated in INVEST and 119 students participated in Positive Families.
